Andrew Mark Eason, Women in God's Army. Gender and Equality in the Early Salvation Army

Order Information (comment commander) :

www.wlu.ca/wwwpress/index.html.

Other Details (autres détails) :

The Early Salvation Army professed its commitment to sexual equality in ministry and leadership. In fact, its founding constitution proclaimed women had the right to preach and hold any office in the organization. But did they? Women in God's Army is the first study of its kind devoted to the critical analysis of this central claim. It traces the extent to which this egalitarian ideal was realized in the private and public lives of first- and second-generation female Salvationists in Britain, and argues that the Salvation Army was found wanting in its overall commitment to women's equality with men. Bold pronouncements were not matched by actual practice in the home or in public ministry. Andrew Mark Eason views this story from a number of angles, including historical, gender, and feminist theology, ensuring it will be of interest to a wide spectrum of readers.

Mary J. Anderson, The Life Writings of Mary Baker McQuesten. Victorian Matriarch

Order Information (comment commander) :

www.wlu.ca/wwwpress/index.html.

Other Details (autres détails) :

How did a privileged Victorian matron, newly widowed and newly impoverished, manage to raise and educate her six young children and restore her family to social prominence? Mary Baker McQuesten's personal letters, 155 of which were carefully selected by Mary J. Anderson, tell the story. In her uninhibited style, in letters mostly to her children, Mary Baker McQuesten chronicles her financial struggles and her expectations. The letters reveal her forthright opinions on a broad range of topics-politics, religion, literature, social sciences, and even local gossip. We learn how Mary assessed each of her children's strengths and weaknesses, and directed each of their lives for the good of the family. Mary Baker McQuesten was also president of the Women's Missionary Society. The appearance, manner, and eloquence of various ministers and politicians all come under her uninhibited scrutiny, providing lively insights into the Victorian moral and social motivations of both men and women and about the gender conflicts that occurred both at home and abroad.

Author-title (auteur-titre) :

Enid Robbie, The Forgotten Commissioner. Sir William Mildmay and the Anglo-French Commission of 1750-1755

Other Details (autres détails) :

As a middle-aged London lawyer, Sir William Mildmay had a reputation for prudence and frugality that landed him a position on the Anglo-French Commission in Paris. The Commission's ongoing negotiations and failure to ratify the 1748 Treaty of Aix-la-Chappelle and resolve longstanding differences were to have far-reaching consequences for the futures of Britain, France, Canada, the American colonies, and India. The contents of William Mildmay's letters, his private commission journal, and his official commission reports provide remarkable first-hand insight into the tortuous process of eighteenth-century diplomacy. Given the importance of the resulting conflagration for Britain and its Empire, Mildmay's detailed descriptions of the commission's work is a remarkable and unique chronicle of a crucial episode in British and French diplomacy.

Hugh Dempsey, Firewater: The Impact of the Whisky Trade on the Blackfoot Nation

Order Information (comment commander) :

bookinfo@fitzhenry.ca.

Other Details (autres détails) :

Dempsey discusses the manner that the Blackfoot used alcohol in their culture ... the social disruption that alcohol caused within a band, or between bands, of the Blackfoot ... a number of the murders that were perpetrated as a result of various persons' desire to get drunk, being intoxicated, or to avenge what a "mean murderous" drunk had done ... the devastation of the resource that this trade of buffalo robes for booze entailed ... a product of thorough research on the whisky trade in southern Alberta." — John L. Tobias — Red Deer College.

Author-title (auteur-titre) :

Ian Hugh Maclean Miller, Our Glory and Our Grief: Torontonians and the Great War

Order Information (comment commander) :

<http://www.utpress.utoronto.ca>

Other Details (autres détails) :

Focusing on the impact of the First World War on the lives of Torontonians as it was happening, this careful study challenges the collective wisdom that Canadians were ignorant of the realities and blindly rallied behind Britain. On the contrary, Miller demonstrates, people were well informed and relieved in what they were doing. Both newspaper reports (there were six competing dailies, combined circulation nearly half-a-million) and archival sources (official documents, private correspondence, personal letter) provide confirmation.

Author-title (auteur-titre) :

Georges Livet, Histoire des routes et des transports en Europe. Des chemins de Saint-Jacques à l'âge d'or des diligences

Order Information (comment commander) :

<http://www.puf.com/home.php>

Other Details (autres détails) :

Des Romains à nos jours, les routes ont été le souci des États, des régions, des communes — que ce soit au titre des échanges, du transport des personnes, du commerce, ou pour des raisons stratégiques et militaires. L'auteur, à partir d'une documentation peu commune, nous fait revivre cette histoire passionnante pour la période — du XIII^e au XIX^e siècle — qui, avant l'ère de la vapeur, représente une unité technologique caractérisée et une ère de stabilité. Ce livre offre à Georges Livet l'occasion de souligner l'inventivité des hommes traçant, aménageant et exploitant un réseau routier et fluvial de plus en plus important; d'évoquer les nombreux métiers générés par le développement de ce réseau — du maréchal ferrant au cocher et au cantonnier, de l'aubergiste au maître des postes et au cartographe, etc.-; d'analyser les enjeux politiques, économiques, religieux et humains qui n'ont cessé d'y interférer.

Author-title (auteur-titre) :

Andrée Lévesque, Madeleine Parent, militante

Order Information (comment commander) :

www.editions-remuemenge.gc.ca

Other Details (autres détails) :

Comment rendre justice au militantisme de Madeleine Parent ?

Comment décrire toutes ses luttes syndicales et féministes, comprendre le contexte historique dans lequel elles se sont déroulées et mesurer leur impact ? Voilà le défi que s'est proposé l'équipe réunie par Andrée Lévesque pour produire cet ouvrage. Née à Montréal en 1919, Madeleine Parent a mené une vie active au Québec et en Ontario. Au fil des pages, on découvre une femme de conviction qui, après avoir joué un rôle déterminant lors des grèves du textile des années 1940 et 1950, a contribué à l'établissement d'un syndicalisme canadien. Féministe convaincue, elle a lutté pour l'équité salariale, le droit à l'avortement et la défense des droits des femmes immigrantes et des femmes autochtones. Elle demeure encore aujourd'hui une citoyenne très engagée, prête à évaluer chaque décision gouvernementale, à écrire aux dirigeants, à signer des pétitions et à descendre dans la rue pour manifester.

Author-title (auteur-titre) :

Fred Kautz, The German Historians. Hitler's Willing Executioners and Daniel Goldhagen

Order Information (comment commander) :

<http://www.web.net/blackrosebooks>

Other Details (autres détails) :

In 1997, Daniel Goldhagen published his groundbreaking international bestseller entitled Hitler's Willing Executioners. Drawing on a wealth of unused archival materials, principally the testimony of the killers themselves, Goldhagen took his readers into the killing fields where Germans voluntarily hunted Jews like animals, tortured them, and then posed cheerfully for snapshots with their victims. Instead of seeing this work as a chance to seriously re-evaluate what happened in Germany, the influential German historians angrily rejected it with accusations of a lack of scholarship, to a reaction against its popularity. This investigative work deals with that historical bias and the resulting complicity. Kautz points out that all the major German Holocaust historians were trained by the earlier generation of historians, all of whom were in one way or another involved with the Nazi regime, and he exposes just how restrictive and punitive the German academic system is of anyone who adopts an approach not favoured by those in authority.

Author-title (auteur-titre) :

Robert Mainville, An Overview of Aboriginal and Treaty Rights and Compensation for their Breach

Order Information (comment commander) :

www.purichpublishing.com

Other Details (autres détails) :

This book examines the origins of Aboriginal and treaty rights, and reviews major Canadian court decisions that have defined them. The author stresses the fiduciary relationship between the federal government and Aboriginal peoples, and discusses the impact of the Canadian Constitution on Aboriginal rights, and limits to the government's ability to infringe upon Aboriginal and treaty rights. The heart of this book deals with the complex question of compensation for the infringement of Aboriginal and treaty rights. The author begins with the Canadian law of expropriation but argues that, while these principles can provide guidelines for compensation, expropriation law is inadequate to address the issue fully. He examines American jurisprudence and concludes that the American experience has not always led to justice for Native Americans. Against this background the author sets out clear and practical principles for determining appropriate compensation when Aboriginal or treaty rights are breached.

Author-title (auteur-titre):

Sylvie Frigon, L'homicide conjugal au féminin. Du « maricide » à la légitime défense...

Order Information (comment commander):

www.editions-remuemenage.qc.ca.

Other Details (autres détails):

Marie-Joséphite Corriveau, « La Corriveau », a été accusée du meurtre de son mari en 1763, exécutée puis exposée dans une cage à Québec. Meurtre ou légitime défense ? Depuis toujours, des femmes en arrivent à tuer leur conjoint. Quelle est la signification de ce geste ? Comment s'inscrit-il dans leur histoire de vie ? Quels sont les facteurs déclencheurs ? Quelles sont les réactions après le passage à l'acte ? Quel est le traitement pénal ? Voici un livre phare sur l'homicide conjugal au féminin. Dans un premier temps, l'auteure expose des données historiques, des dossiers de femmes condamnées à la peine de mort au Canada entre 1866 et 1954 pour avoir tué leur mari. Finalement, pour mieux comprendre le « maricide », la parole est donnée à des femmes condamnées pour l'homicide de leur mari : 22 femmes se racontent - 14 au Canada et 8 en France et en Belgique. Avocats, psychiatres et psychologues analysent ces témoignages.
