

CALLS FOR PAPERS

The International Council of Canadian Studies (ICCS) announces the launching of a new journal, the International Journal of Canadian Studies (IJCS)/Revue internationale d'études canadiennes (RIEC). The journal will publish thematic issues offering articles, research notes, and review essays in all scholarly disciplines relating to Canada. The journal will be published twice yearly and papers will appear in French or English. The first issue, 'Research in Canada', is in preparation. Proposals are being solicited for the second and third issues, entitled 'Changing Dimensions of Ethnicity in Canada' and 'The Evolving Canadian Landscape'. Authors are invited to submit a one page proposal with a brief description of the subject, approach and methodology and on this basis the editorial board will make a selection. The deadlines are April 15, 1990 and September 15, 1990, respectively. Correspondence should be addressed to: IJCS Secretariat, 2 Daly Avenue, Ottawa, ON, K1N 6E2; 613-232-0417; FAX 613-232-2495.

Oxford University Press is issuing a call for papers for its new journal, History and Computing. Contributions are invited on all aspects of historical study in which computers are involved, from substantial articles and project reports, 2-6,000 words, to short comments and queries. Submissions in languages other than English are also welcome. Address correspondence to R.J. Morris, Department of Economic and Social History, William Robertson Building, George Square, Edinburgh, UK, EH8 9JY.

The Canadian Catholic Historical Association's 58th General Meeting, Kingston, May-June 1991. The Conference Committee is especially interested in proposals on Scottish Catholicism in Canada, Catholicism and Native Peoples, Catholic archives and demography. Send tentative title, abstract and short c.v. to Mark McGowan, vice-president, CCHA, Department of History, University of Ottawa, Ottawa, K1N 6N5.

North American Labor History Conference, Detroit, October 18-20, 1990. Send paper proposals by May 1 to Stanley D. Solvick, Department of History, Wayne State University, Detroit, MI 48202, USA.

Society for Utopian Studies, Lexington, November 15-18, 1990. Send proposals for panels or papers by June 1, to Dr. Susan Matarese, Department of Political Science, University of Louisville, Louisville, KY 40292, USA.

The Canadian Journal of History/Annales canadiennes d'histoire invites contributions to two new sections in the journal. News, research and conference announcements, notes and short essays of 600 words or fewer are invited. Proposals for historiographical papers of 3,000-8,000 words are also invited from established scholars.

The Annual Meeting of the Oral History Association, Snowbird, Utah, 10-13 October, 1991. Proposals for papers, panels and speakers, particularly on the themes: women, ethnic topics and the American West, should be sent by December 1, 1990 to Jay M. Haymond, Utah State Historical Society, 300 Rio Grande, Salt Lake City, UT 84101, USA.

Le congrès de l'Institut d'histoire de l'Amérique française invites proposals for its conference Pouvoirs et politique en Amérique française, St. Jean, Quebec, October 26-27, 1990. The organizing committee hopes to provoke reflection on all aspects of the connections between power and politics as well as examining specific aspects of this relationship in French America, for example: women and power, military and civil power, the press and power. For more information contact one of: Marcel Bellavance, Collège militaire royal de Saint-Jean, Richelain, PQ, JOJ 1R0; 514-358-6737 or Lise McNicoll, Institut d'histoire de l'Amérique française, 261 avenue Bloomfield, Outremont, PQ, H2V 3R6; 514-278-2232.

... Calls, p. 8

Handbook to History Grad Programmes due in May

The Handbook to Graduate Studies in History in Canada is due off the press in May. The handbook, which is being published by the Graduate Students' Committee of the CHA, will be approximately 100 pages when it is completely typeset, say the editors. It is based on questionnaires sent out in December and January to all history departments in Canada that have graduate programmes. Approximately 85% of departments have responded to date.

The handbook will list the graduate teaching faculty in the department, courses and fields offered, application procedures, programme requirements, size of the programme, as well as information on tuition, scholarships, teaching assistantships etc...which are available and the numbers which have been awarded in the past two years. The departments' fields of specialization and the titles of recently completed thesis and dissertations will be included as indications of the focus of each department.

The Handbook will make it much easier for prospective graduate students to find the faculty and the programmes that best suit their interests, according to Colin Coates, project coordinator. It will also include a list of scholarships for which they are eligible. Coates suggests that it may also be useful to departments because it allows a tally of the total graduate population and will allow them to compare their programmes with those of other universities.

In order to ensure maximum distribution, copies will be sent free of charge to graduate advisors in history departments, university libraries, and to student members of the CHA.

The Graduate Students' Committee of the CHA has been working on the handbook since their Committee first met at the CHA meeting at Laval last June. They are looking forward to a handbook launching party at the CHA meeting in Victoria in May.

CALLS FOR PAPERS

The International Labor History Association issues a call for papers for a Festschrift honouring Philip S. Foner. Professor Foner has authored and edited over 135 books in the fields of U.S. labour history, Black labour history, women's labour history, and anti-imperialist history. Papers on these topics of 25 pages, double spaced or less may be submitted in English to Ronald C. Kent, editor ILHA, 706 Bruce Court, Madison, Wisc. 53705, USA before August 15, 1990.

The Canadian Indian/Native Studies Association request submissions of scholarly papers, as well as oral, literary and dramatic presentations for its 1990 Annual Conference: Coming Full Circle: Responsibility and Reciprocity in Native Studies, Ottawa, October 12-14, 1990. Possible themes include: Native Women and Feminism; Religion and Spirituality; Ethics and Research; Education; Community Research Issues. October 13 will also be Women's Day with sessions on Native Women and Society. For the general programme contact: Organizing Committee, Institute of Canadian Studies, Carleton University, Ottawa, ON, K1S 5B6; 613-788-2366. For the Women's Day programme contact Winona Stevenson, Professor of Native Studies, University of Saskatchewan, Saskatoon, SK, S7N 0W0; 306-966-6216 or Kerry Abel c/o the organizing committee.

Forest History Society, Costa Rica, February 17-22, 1991. Send paper proposals to Harold K. Steen, Forest History Society, 701 Vickers Ave., Durham, NC, 27701, USA.

Canadian National Railways is sponsoring the conference Towards a Complete History: the Canadian National Railways, 1918-1984, Montreal, October 24-28, 1990.

Papers on: CN and the Canadian Government; the Image of the CN across Canada; CN/CP Cooperation in the 1930's; CN and labour; CN in the US prior to 1969; and CN and the employment of women should be sent to Dr. Kenneth S. Mackenzie, CN Archivist, P.O. Box 8100, Montreal, PQ, H3C 3N4; 514-399-7211.

The Sixth American Fur Trade Conference, Mackinac Island, Michigan, September 26-29, 1991 invites papers on the fur trade, especially on the Mackinac based fur trade, Native Americans and the North American fur trade and Euro-Americans and the North American fur trade. Archaeologists, ethnologists, historians and other scholars should submit a one page abstract and a c.v. by August 1, 1990 to: Dr. Donald P. Heldman, Sixth North American Fur Trade Conference, P.O. Box 515, Mackinac City, MI, 49701, USA.

The editors of Studies in History and Politics/Etudes d'histoire et de politique invite submissions for a special issue entitled Regionalism and Theory: Issues and Application. Articles on the theoretical aspects of regionalism as well as case studies with theoretical implications are invited with any disciplinary focus. Papers may be submitted in French or English, to: The Editors, Studies in History and Politics/ Etudes d'histoire et de politique, Bishop's University, Lennoxville, PQ, J1M 1Z7 before September 30, 1990. Papers should be submitted in triplicate, double-spaced and be approximately 7500 words in length.

The Society for the History of Technology, Cleveland, October 18-21, 1990. Submit paper proposals by April 1, 1990 to Lindy Biggs, Department of History, Auburn University, Auburn, AL 36849, USA.